

Digital Publishing

Are you someone who wants to take over the digital communication world?

Do you have an eye for publishing?

Students develop skills to create a text-based communication task following a design process. This course has an emphasis on understanding different skills in designing, making and critiquing documents such as magazines, newspapers, journals and books.

Students can demonstrate skills in desktop or electronic publishing and personal or business documents, using software such as Adobe InDesign, Illustrator and Photoshop.
